

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A new class of useful reagents for ore beneficiation are obtained by the quaternization of the reaction products of tertiary alkanolamine derivatives and fatty acids or their ester derivatives. The reagents are particularly useful for the flotation separation of ore values from siliceous materials.